Yon Yusuf

Product Design Lead

Product designer working across product strategy, information architecture, interaction design and systems. I work closely with engineering from discovery through implementation, shaping products with a practical understanding of frontend behaviour, technical constraints and underlying architecture.

EXPERIENCE

Head of Product Design · TUG
2026 – Present

- Lead product design across logistics, employee benefits and government platforms.
- Shape product architecture, information architecture and workflows across complex multi-role products.
- Work directly in the development loop, carrying design decisions through prototyping, implementation and production review.
- Build reusable patterns and working prototypes to validate complex interactions before wider implementation.

Senior Product Designer · ThoughtFull
2025 – 2026

- Improved product and design workflows across business, product and engineering teams.
- Designed and shipped admin, learning and wellness experiences using rapid design-to-production workflows.
- Built interactive prototypes for discovery, stakeholder alignment and client-facing product exploration.

Senior UI/UX Designer · DKSH
2021 – 2024

- Led UX improvements across large legacy enterprise applications.
- Turned research, user feedback and product data into prioritised product changes.
- Facilitated design sprints and workshops across product and business teams.
- Mentored designers transitioning into product design.

Senior UI/UX Designer · HealthMetrics
2020 – 2021

- Designed interconnected workflows across a growing healthcare product ecosystem.
- Helped define and ship new modules from early discovery through interface design.
- Established reusable design-system foundations across product platforms.
- Introduced more structured stakeholder involvement in discovery and prioritisation.

Earlier Experience

Product and UI/UX roles across e-commerce, smart systems and digital products, working across consumer and enterprise environments.
